FAIRVIEW.

—Any one with a taste for flowers should not fail to call on Mrs.
Bell.

—Rev. Mr. Tozeland held his first service here on Sunday last to a fairly well filled house.

—It sounds strange here to hear now and again a distant echo of failure of crops in the Northwest, and those who have an idea that there will not be enough produced in the country for home consumption should pay Fairview a visit.

—Harvesting commenced here about the end of July. Haying is nearly finished, the supply being in some parts rather scanty but on the whole no scarcity of feed is apprehended. Straw will be plentiful and wheat, oats, and barley a good crop.

—There are so many excellent fields of wheat and oats that it is hard to say who has the best, but Mr. Elliot has fine timothy, a little clover, an uncommon fine garden with new potatoes as big as your fist, cucumbers, turnip gooseberries in plenty,
and a novelty in the form of a thorn hedge.

TOUCHWOOD.

The employees of the Indian Department at Touchwood Hills on hearing of the marriage of their esteemed agent, Mr. E. Keith, procured a very handsome clock case in-decorated with black marble, surmounted by an antique figure in brass, to be presented to him with an address beautifully engrossed in old English characters. On Thursday afternoon, 18th July, all the employees met to sign the address and make the presentation. The address read as follows:

"To H. Keith, Esq., Indian Agent,
Touchwood Hills.

Dear Mr. Keith,—We have heard with much interest of your marriage, and since this is one of those events in a man's life which afford an opportunity of giving active expression to the feelings cherished for him by those connected with him, we desire to avail ourselves of it. The accompanying tribute of regard and esteem we trust will be received by you as an evidence of the warm feelings entertained for you by those under your immediate direction in the Department's service.

We hope that your marriage will prove a source of true happiness, both to yourself and the lady who is casting her lot with yours, and that you may both be spared to mutually enjoy many years of increasing happiness, prosperity and usefulness.

We are, dear sir,

Yours very respectfully

and cordially

V. Dadds, O. Owen, L. Couture,
J. Slater, J. H. Gooderham, C. J.
Pritchard, T. J. Fleetham, R.
Pratt, F. W. Donnelly, C. Favel.

The address was read and the presentation made on behalf of the above gentlemen by the Rev. O.
Owen. After the presentation Mr.
Keith replied, warmly thanking the employees for the kind address and valuable present. The address and present will always remind him of the kind feeling and warm-hearted support which he has received in the past from those under him in the service. He thanked all present for the kind wishes expressed for himself and wife, and hoped that all should long be spared to work together. The success of the agency at Touchwood was not alone due to the agent, but in a very great measure to the support the agent received from those under him.

The presentation over, Mrs. and Mr. Keith invited all to join them at tea, which all accepted. Mrs.
Keith, though taken by surprise,
proved quite equal to the occasion, and practically demonstrated that a man, however well esteemed, is not so truly blessed without his better half. After tea the employees resorted to the tennis ground where several games were played. Before parting, all returned to the dining where a hour was spent in song and pleasant chat. The Rev. O. Owen and Messrs. L. Couture, J. H.
Gooderham, C. J. Pritchard and others spoke of the vast improvement in the affairs of the Red men of Touchwood since Mr. Keith has been in charge. On his arrival many families were without houses, many more had no cattle, nor farms.
Today all without exception have both, many of the farms and houses being second to none in the Territories. Then there were no schools; today there are four, two of which have taken first and second prizes. Then there was only one third rate Government building in Touchwood; today there were nine first class buildings. This, the speakers thought, should prove that our agent was a success. Mr.
Keith replied in a neat little speech, that all have had a share in the work, so all should share the credit for it. This brought a most pleasant gathering to a close.

PRESBYTERY OF REGINA.

The Presbytery of Regina met at Indian Head on Wednesday of last week for the induction of the Rev.
John Ferry into the pastoral charge of Indian Head congregation, and for the ordination of Mr. W. J. Hall of Walsely. Service began about 15 o'clock and was conducted by the Moderator, Rev. A. Campbell, of File Hills, and Rev. A. Robson, of Fort Qu'Appelle, who preached an apocuryptical discourse from Matt. 4, 4.
Subsequently Mr. Ferry was inducted, and Mr. Hall ordained with the laying on of hands of the Presbytery, and both were addressed by Rev.
Prof. Hart, of Winnipeg. The people then were addressed by the Rev.
A. Hamilton, of Whitewood. A deputation consisting of Rev. Messrs.
Hall, Ferry and Robson were appointed to visit Moffat station. Notice was given of a call to the Rev. W. J.
Hall, from the congregation of Stonewall in Winnipeg Presbytery.

MOOSOMIN.

—Mr. C. J. Smith, of the Roller mills, has again returned from Ottawa. Smith & Wigham intend to resume grinding in about two weeks.

—The site has been chosen and arranged for on which the public buildings are to be erected. The plans of which it is understood, are to be sent here shortly, to be tendered upon.

—Mr. McGuire, cabinet-maker, had the fore-finger of the right hand cut off and the thumb and other fingers badly cut while operating a buzz saw used for ripping.

—Building operations continue brightly here. Mr. James Bell is erecting a dwelling on Ogilvie street while Messrs. Colin McLean and John McKenzie are each erecting large houses on Carlton street. The stone work of the large Methodist church is nearly completed.

Minneapolis Tribune: Mr. Hugh Sutherland's dogged persistence should meet with the success it merits and there are very few Manitobans but wish to see it. He has worked for years in the face of much difficulty and discouragement on the Hudson Bay railway scheme, and late reports concerning it are that its prospects are brightening.

WHITEWOOD.

—Another blacksmith shop has been started in town by Mr. Buxton.

—Haying is now in full swing.
All the farmers are busy scraping for feed, as there is, a great scarcity of it this year.

—We have a tailor in town and intends to stop if trade is good. There are also photographers, Myers, Trueman & Caple, of Toronto. They stay for three weeks.

—Mr. Dave Coleman has returned after a nine-months trip to his native burg "the Verdant Isle." He looks as fresh and green as ever, and is still without encephalitis.

—The Hon. E. Dewdney, Minister of Interior, is expected on a visit shortly. We hope he may see his way to stay amongst us a few days as he is sure of a great welcome.

—Whitewood races, which came off last week, a great success in every way, a great number of people attended. The entries were not as many as would have been were the prizes larger, but as prospects are not very bright with farmers this year money was scarce; therefore prizes smaller than what we expect they will be next year.

—A great inconvenience was caused for the last week by the C.P.
R. in building a platform along the line where the crossing has been since the town was formed, and not replacing it by any other crossing, thereby rendering it positively dangerous to anyone trying to cross the rails with a load. They should have made a new crossing before they stopped the old one.

—There is great indignation amongst the tradespeople of the town against the responsible persons in issuing the contracts for the immigration sheds to be erected here.
It seems that the plans and specifications were forwarded to Moosomin and detained there until 24 hours before the time stated in them for the contractors to send in their tenders, leaving it almost impossible for them to figure on the job. It looks as if Whitewood was held in disfavor and kept down purposely so as to let Moosomin go ahead. Surely this town is entitled to the trifling aid the Government give us, without other towns trying to have first bite at her cake.

BATTLEFORD.

Saskatchewan Herald.

—Mr. Reed, Commissioner of Indian Affairs, arrived here on Thursday evening on an official tour. He visited some of the reserve and left for Prince Albert on Monday afternoon.

—Work on the enlargement of the Industrial School, so as to provide for the accommodation of female pupils, has been begun and will be proceeded to completion at an early date. The supervision of the building has been placed in the hands of J. G. Oliver.

—H. H. Millie has to his general business the manufacture of jewellery. He has just completed several brooches, studs and other articles, and will make rings, scarf pins or other things of the kind of native gold. Native metal and home manufacture will give such things an additional value in the eyes of those who may receive them as souvenirs.
The work he has now turned out is most creditable in its execution.

A HANDSOME RESIDENCE.

Plans and View of a Dwelling That Is Out of the Ordinary.

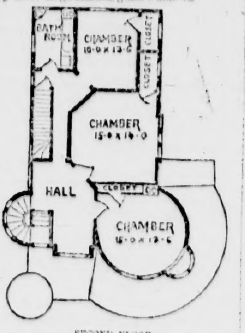

The plans and view of the house here given are taken from The Scientific American Architects and Builders' edition, which speaks of it as "A House of Moderate Cost, and says:

"Reference to the floor plans will show good arrangement of rooms. The parlor is almost circular in form, and is connected to the dining room by a sliding door; open fireplaces are in both rooms. Access from front to rear is gained without making a thoroughfare of any of the rooms, and when the passage doors are closed the kitchen is entirely cut off from the front portion of this house.

"A piazza encircles the parlor, and on the right of the entrance the piazza roof terminates in a small circular tower; a seat under this provides a pleasant lookout. "On the second floor the principal chamber is also circular, with a circular bay rising into a tower. There are two other good sized chambers and a bath room. The front hall on this floor is of large dimensions, with square bay to the front and seat therein. The spiral staircase from this hall is lighted by three large stained glass windows.

"From whatever point the elevations may be viewed, their aspect is equally attractive, the combination of towers, bays and chimneys making this residence particularly inviting. "Size of structure, 42x20 feet, exclusive of piazza. "For size of rooms, see floor plans. "Materials.—The vertical sides shingled throughout; roof shingled."

MR. AND MRS. BOWSER.

In Which Mrs. Bowser Comes to the Front as Usual.

I sat at a table the other afternoon when Mr. Bowser came home, and after she had gone he asked:

"How was Mrs. Blank here?"
"About half an hour."
"And you talked about fashions, I suppose?"

"Yes, mostly; what should we talk about?"
"Mrs. Bowser, did it ever occur to you that there was anything in life beyond millinery and dress goods and dressmakers?"

"How?"
"How? Why select some subject of some art, science, mineralogy, the labor question, or self government—and discuss it with calmness and justice, and learn something worth remembering for half an hour. You women folks might as well have been born with a pumpkin on your shoulders in place of a head."

I made no reply to this, but determined to catch Mr. Bowser in his own trap before the week was out. Fortune favored me. It was only two days before a neighbor called over as he was at work in the back yard, and for two long hours these men sat down on a ledge and discussed the question whether a back gate should open inwards or outwards, and the advantages offered by either situation.

Mr. Bowser contended for the gate opening outwards, and the neighbor for the opposite, and the discussion resulted in Mr. Bowser getting a red clear back of the ears and jumping up to exclaim:

"Well, I'll drop the subject right here. There can be cranks on silly gates as well as on politics and religion."

"And there can be lunatics outside of the asylums," loudly replied the neighbor. "Don't call me a lunatic!"

"And don't you call me a crank!"

"Go home and hang your old gate to the moon!"

"I'll hang it according to the rules of common sense, and don't you forget it!"

"When Mr. Bowser came in to wash his hands I observed:

"Mr. Bowser, did it ever occur to you that there was anything in life beyond hanging a back gate?"

He replied with a "humph" of disgust. "Select some subject of some, Mr. Bowser—art, science, mineralogy, the labor question or self government—and discuss it with calmness and justice, and learn something worth remembering for half an hour!"

He looked around in a desperate, helpless way, and put on his hat and went off without a word in reply. I wasn't going to let him off on that, however. When he came home that evening I had Mrs. Orford over to supper, and as soon as we were seated at the table I queried:

"Isn't it strange that Germany's policy on the Simon question is one of conciliation instead of aggression?"

"It certainly does," she replied, "but there may be a hidden motive behind this seeming submission. Trace the record of the man back as far as you will, and his policy has been either aggression or strategy."

Mr. Bowser looked from one to the other of us in astonishment.

"Notice," said I, as I passed the bluebird, "that the Spanish colonial policy is working towards a radical change. Incited by the example of other and stronger nations, it is about to extend its arms and enfold new possessions."

The stars that Mr. Bowser favored me with made my first sleep.

"I do declare you can come down to the next meeting of the Woman's Scientific, Literary and Literary club," said Mrs. Orford, as she toyed with her strawberries.

"Those pathologies are very, very interesting. As I have just mentioned the Spanish colonial policy, and at the one next week we shall discuss 'Two Proposed Amendments to the Constitution of the United States.'"

"Oh, I'll like to go ever so much, and I think I can promise you I will be there. Can Mr. Bowser come, too?"

"Well, hardly. Men take such little interest in such things that they are obstructive."

And Mr. Bowser, at that time, turning red and pale, turned, until his chin grew so hot that he had to pretend a headache and get excused. I contemplated an awful tragedy after my visitor took her departure, but Mr. Bowser contented himself with saying:

"Now that that shallow, petted, long nosed old woman has finally taken her leave, let's go to bed."

He registered his assurance after a couple of days, however. I was talking to our 2-year-old baby, and talking to all mothers talk, when Mr. Bowser flung down his paper and exclaimed:

"Mrs. Bowser, you make me tired talking to that young un that way. No wonder so many children grow up to be big headed."

"How shall I talk?"

"Talk sense, the same way you would to an adult. Be old enough to understand, and I believe he will appreciate it."

"Very well, I'll try."

"Thank you. It's more than I expected you'd do."

Not So Bad as All That.

It is well known that fishermen, after getting a fare at the Georges, make haste to get to Boston, as the earliest arrivals get the best prices. A worthy captain who sails out of Boston having been fortunate enough to secure an unusually large quantity of fish crowded on all sail and started for home. A severe storm arose during which three men were washed overboard and lost. These were a native of Portugal. The loss was a severe blow to the captain, who had been congratulating himself upon receiving the commendation of the respect of the vessel for the very large fare he had secured. The news of the loss of the men preceded the vessel's arrival, and the owners were aware of it and looked down with very grave faces upon the captain as he shared alongside of the wharf.

"We've got the biggest fare that's come to this wharf, you bet," said the captain.

"What good is that," said one of the owners, "when you have lost three men?"

"Who says that?" asked the captain.

"Why the tug boat brought in the news," said one of the owners.

"That we'd lost three men!"

"Well, it ain't so bad as all that. Only two men and a Portuguese"—Boston Courier.

Early Found.
Aged New Yorker—I've often wondered what became of my favorite, Will Winkler, whose parents removed to Philadelphia while he was very young. Sixty years ago he was an errand boy in a Market street store, but I haven't heard of him since.

Philadelphia "astonished"—Well, why don't you go to the store and inquire? Most likely he is there yet.—New York Weekly.

Only Tempted.
"Boy!" shouted a Michigan avenue grocer, "didn't I see you peck an apple from that barrel?"

"No, sir."

"Look out! You were acting very suspicious. I saw you eyeing that barrel."

"Yes, I knew you were, and that's the reason I didn't make a grab and run for it!"—Detroit Free Press.

A Sure Sign.
Merritt—I'm afraid I'm old for me isn't it just what it might be.

Giles—That's nonsense, old boy. She fairly follows you.

Merritt—I don't know so much about that. I gave her a costly present last night, and before she thanked me she ran up stairs to show it to her mother.—Judge.

Then the Mother Turned Round Again.
He entered in tobacco store on Grand River avenue with a handkerchief pressed to his face, and was at once the subject of conversation.

"I've been there," said number one, "and I can feel for you. Try peppermint essence."

"I always put on a bag of hot salt," said number two. "I have cured the worst kind of case inside of two hours."

"Boh!" exclaimed number three, "electricity will stop that ache in two minutes. I'll never feel with any other remedy."

"Don't mind what number four, as he put his finger into his mouth to feel of an old man, "there's nothing like lard for the toothache. It comes from an exposed nerve. Lardumum deadens the sensibility of the nerve. I've used it with success a hundred times."

"I never advise a man to waste time fooling around," said number five. "Let him go straight to the dentist and have it pulled out. It takes half of course, but in five minutes you are over it forever."

"I've had eleven pulled out," said number six, "and I'll never lose eleven more than suffer a toothache for one hour. I'll go with you, Smith."

"Where to?" innocently asked Smith, as he pocketed the handkerchief.

"To the dentist's. Haven't you got the toothache?"

"Oh, no. Every one of my molars is false. I always carry my handkerchief that way, when thinking deeply. Much obliged, gentlemen. Will you smoke at your own expense?"—Detroit Free Press.

Not for Fish.
Between Greensboro and Salisbury the locomotive broke down, and we lay for three hours while repairs were being made. There was a small lake near by, and the colored girl at his fishing tackle, hunted up a frog for bait, and tried his luck. He fished that pond longways and sideways and up and down and across for two hours and a half, and he was still at it when a white man came through the woods and stopped and inquired:

"Had any luck?"

"Not a fish."

"Fishing for fish?"

"Of course."

"Just to pass the time?"

Hated Monotony.

"Maude," he said, with a quivering quaver in the vowel sounds, "Maude, three weeks ago tonight I asked you to marry me."

"You did?"

"And you said 'no.'"

"That was my answer."

"Two weeks ago tonight I asked you the same question."

"I remember."

"And you made the same reply."

"I did."

"A week ago I asked you to be my wife, and you said 'no' again."

"Yes."

"You have had another week to think the matter over, and I called to see whether you had arrived at any other conclusion."

"She reflected a moment, and then said gently:

"Harry, I recognize the fact that each time I have answered you is precisely the same way. There has been nothing in my replies, so far, to relieve the monotony."

Then, after another pause, she said, still more softly:

"Harry, I should hate very much to be considered monotonous."—Merchant Traveler.

A Woman of the World.
A pretty fan was presented to a little girl 4 years of age, and she asked to know her new treasure, being it on her finger and held it out at arm's length. A lady, entering the parlor, was attracted by the peculiar attitude of the little girl, and finally said to her: "Isn't it very fatiguing to hold out your arm in that way so long?" Said little Elsie in answer, with a deep sigh: "Isn't it always fatiguing to be elegant?"—Wide Awake.

A Decided Drawback.
"Gratious!" exclaimed Mr. Backwoods, "the pretter says that the fashionable folks in N' York have 's' oblock tea." They must get awful hungry afore bedtime!"—Harper's Bazar.

Nerve.
A restaurant man of Lincoln was looking gloomy yesterday as he gazed from the window at the dusty landscape. Being surrounded by a representative of the lever which moves the world he commenced to unbosom himself. "There came in here this morning," he said, "a stranger of distinguished appearance. He was languidly in his bearing, very languid. The days of the years of my journey in the land have been many, but I don't think I ever struck a more commanding looking man. He took a seat at a table and glanced over the bill of fare very critically. Finally he ordered a porterhouse steak, with innumerable vegetables. He asked me if I had any new cucumbers. I hadn't any."

"He asked me if I had any new cucumbers," he said, "and I told him I hadn't any. And he told me that he didn't want to become a cucumber before the meal is brought me."

"I was deeply impressed by his imperious manner and finished order and hurried to the cook, and in a very short time the meal was placed before him, and it was a nice one. He seemed to enjoy it. He ate slowly, sipping three cups of coffee and repeated several of his family commands to me. He concluded the request, and came to the cashier's desk where I was on duty. He picked his teeth calmly and then said:

"I am ready."

"Ready for what?" I inquired.

"Ready to be fired. I haven't a red cent."

"Now how was that for unlaunders, doubts and twist, fast dyed gaud? How does it suit you as a sample of a man with a wire edge and brass tip? I was too paralyzed to fire him. I just invited him to go and told him that if he ever came to my fashionable restaurant again I would sweeten his coffee with sulphuric acid."

He smiled and went his tortuous way. And the proprietor of the high emporium sighed wearily.—Nebraska State Journal.

He Was Satisfied.
He had rung a door bell on Cass avenue, and a woman had opened the door, spit out half a dozen words and shut it against his face, when he calmly proceeded to ring again. "Didn't I tell you I didn't want to buy a hat rack?" she exclaimed as she opened the door again.

"Yes, but you don't suppose I would have the impudence to ring your door bell simply to ask you if you wanted a hat rack?"

"I should consider it trifling with you."

"Well, what do you want?"

"A hat rack, that rack I have in the lifters, stove handles, chimney cleaners, furniture polish, silver paste, sham holders, the best cement in the world, feather dusters, ladies' bibles, napkin rings, coarse and fine combs, hair pins, long straight, wavy, powder, face powders, curls for corns, pins and needles, gold and silver trim."

"Yes."

"Not?" she shrieked as soon as she could interrupt him.

Address, JAMES WEIDMAN,
Qu'Appelle Station, Assin.

FRIDAY, AUG. 2, 1889.

We are compelled to hold over editorial matter this week. Our foreman, Mr. J. C. Machesney, has gone to Hayward to rusticate for a fortnight. This reduces our staff to the editor and an apprentice of a few weeks. We usually go to the case and set up our editorial without having first written it, but are prevented from doing so this week on account of our time being taken up with the other composition.

DALTON MCCARTHY.

Mr. Dalton McCarthy goes through to British Columbia next but it appears from the following that he is pressed for time.

The Portage Saturday Night, of which Mr. J. M. Robinson, ex-Provincial Grandmaster of the Orange order, is editor, contains the following item:

A letter was received yesterday from Mr. Dalton McCarthy, Q. C., M. P., to the effect that he can only address one meeting in Manitoba on his way to British Columbia, and he left it to us to say whether that meeting should be in the Portage or Brandon. After consultation with a number of the leading Orangemen, who first opened correspondence with Mr. McCarthy with a view to having him speak at Rapid City on the 12th, it was decided to hold the meeting in the Portage. Mr. McCarthy will therefore address a public meeting in the town hall here on Monday, Aug. 5th. As many people along the line of the M. & N. W. would like to hear Mr. McCarthy's speech, an arrangement has been made for reduced fare for those wishing to come to Portage on that day. Mr. McCarthy is one of the ablest speakers in the Dominion, and his name is prominently mentioned now as a probable successor to Sir John Macdonald. The people of Portage therefore may look for a rare treat on the 5th of August.

The seizure of the schooner Black Diamond by Behring's sea has caused a sensation. This outrage, as it is called, coming when assurances are made of friendly relations between England and America, raises much comment, and government supporters demand an immediate call on the United States to release the schooner and full indemnity.

Col. O'Brien, who may be said to be a first lieutenant in the anti-temperance campaign, in the course of a recent speech opposed the formation of a third party and advised his hearers to vote for candidates pledged to stand on the platform of Equal Rights. The "plan of campaign" seems, therefore, to be the defeat, if possible, of every man of the 188, leaving the chips of party to fall as they may. Unless a third party be formed, no other course seems to be open, if the agitation is to have any practical result.

Correspondence.

WISELEY AND THE FOUR PER CENT ADVOCATE.

To the Editor of the Progress:

Sir,—While my friend Mr. Banbury is endeavoring "to cultivate brevity," allow me to call a tention to his supposed arguments. In order no doubt to exhibit his remarkable literary style (borrowed), on which he seems to pride himself, he starts out by misquoting from my letter to the Regina Journal. Perhaps his "immediate perception of individual style" has prevented him from understanding plain English. He gave it as his opinion that "in a free country the people should have a voice in matters of public interest." At the same time he forgets that in his letter of July 1st he claimed that I had no right to a voice in a matter of morality and common decency. His "immediate perception of individual style" must have spoiled his memory. To clear his mind once more, I would suggest that he look up Webster on the meaning of the words "stimulant" and "refreshment." If four per cent is intoxicating as he claims, the only conclusion that can be arrived at is, that hotelkeepers are common lawbreakers, and are guilty of smuggling in a stronger agent to assist them in producing the "drunks" that are seen so frequently. If Mr. Banbury's statement about the ladies means anything it is this, that only ladies of "a dubious type" drink. He might now tell us what he thinks of the practice in general and also of his own share in the business. Since he has failed to tell us that "ninety per cent. of the citizens" believe that he did not invite a certain gentleman to drink, we will let his denial pass for what it is worth. He seems to find it hard to dispose of that "notorious barrel." If what has been said about it can be made to mean that "had it been behind a bush everything would have been satisfactory," I might add that its position then would have been at least more in keeping with the character of the work done by it and its advocates. Now, Mr. Editor, I wish to call attention to Mr. Banbury's very evident desire to get away from his subject. Failing to dispose of the facts—that the beer was placed on the street, that boys obtained it and that a minister of the Gospel was invited to drink—he rushed to the Bible for protection, but was rather unfortunate in his hasty selection. I suppose his misfortune is accounted for by the fact that men in his business are not the best Bible students, nor are they supposed to be very anxious to square their lives by Bible teachings. I would like to know if he interprets the parable referred to as follows: "Here is the Pharisee congratulating himself that he is so much better than other men—self-righteousness expressed in every word. If that means my humble self, he should have had the opinion of "ninety per cent. of the citizens." Next we see the Pharisee, humble, repentant and so conscious of wrong-doing and sin—this I presume is Mr. Edward Banbury. If the present discussion has lead Mr. Banbury to place himself in such a position I am well pleased to hear it. If it has lead him, feeling the traffic and its results to be an undue burden, to cry out as did the Pharisee, I accept this, his sincere acknowledgment that he is in the wrong and drop the subject by thanking you for valuable space.

Yours, etc.,
R. A. McLOUGHERY,
Wolsley, July 30, '89.

A CORRECTION.

To the Editor of the Progress:

Sir,—In Mr. E. A. Banbury's letter which appears in your issue of the 26th inst., is the following statement which refers to myself: "A certain clerical personage (probably identical with the one referred to) on a previous occasion partook of the four per cent. beer and said it was refreshing." This, Mr. Banbury informs me, is the report as it reached him. I am sorry his informant did not take some pains to find out the truth of the matter. Possibly it would be more in place to request that person, knowing the truth, to keep a little nearer to it in future. The statement as it stands is the most dangerous sort of an untruth, having in it a very slight measure of truth. Let me explain. Almost three years ago, during my former stay in Wolsley, I was invited to drink a glass of beer by a lady who was then a resident of our village. I replied that I never partook of anything intoxicating, and was emphatically assured that the beer I had been asked to drink was not intoxicating. I accepted the lady's assurance and drank the beer. I have reason to believe that it was the same beer as was sold in the Northwest at that time. This, Mr. Editor, is the simple little occurrence that has been twisted to make it appear that I partook of intoxicating beer knowing it to be such. The assertion that I said it was refreshing is untrue and sprang, I have no doubt, from the fertile brain of the one who arranged the story to suit the need. Thanking you for so much space, I am

Yours, etc.,

W. J. HALL.

NUF SED REMARKS.

To the Editor of the Progress:

Sir,—Your late article on "Debasing the country," also the hint on the abolition of separate schools, was appreciated by many of your readers, and it is surprising that an appreciative public are so slow to give expression to their approbation of public spirited remark or action. But so complicated is the working of the political machine at the present day that it is very difficult for even wide-awake, intelligent constituents to know just how much censure or how much honor or credit is due our representatives in the different Houses. Of course attempts are made to put this and that together and thereby arrive at conclusions, and in regard to these four per cent permits granted so freely of late, the points to be considered are something like this. They were sprung upon the people with a suddenness that would seem to leave ground for the suspicion that it was all a preconcerted arrangement. If so the blame should be put where it belongs. Again, if this coquette's egg was not hatched outside the Territories and afterwards imported into our midst, the offspring seems at any rate to be received by the leaders as an expected result. Considerable precipitation was shown in getting the new system into operation before the leading men of the Territories could express themselves on the matter. However, one thing may be put among the certainties for the future, and that is: Eastern Assiniboia is no longer going to be an easy row to hoe, and whoever seeks to be returned as representative at the coming election, would do well to have much better backing than had that resolution of confidence in our representative, Mr. Dewdney, which the Conservative Association squeezed through at Broadview, and which so nearly proved a fizzle on their hands. The action of the Interior Department in regard to second homesteads so far as understood, and in direct opposition to the earnest efforts of the Member for Western Assiniboia, backed by a lengthy petition from his constituents, did much to weaken confidence and open the eyes of strong party men.

I would like very much to see the question of separate schools handled by some leading man or men of our country. I would like to see a single sound reason advanced for the maintenance of these schools, and to know what there is approaching the dangerous in any of the Protestant Public Schools of our country as now conducted and controlled. All questions of sect are studiously avoided, and who will for a moment maintain that the system of education as applied by them is not equal to any in the world, and superior to most systems now in vogue that differ from them. That we have reached perfection is not claimed. At headquarters complaints are made that in some rural districts the school officers are very tardy in sending in quarterly reports, etc., while on the other hand complaints are made that the officers of the Board of Education whose duty it is to attend to the matters in question are very dilatory in forwarding quarterly grants, and that it should not take a month or more from the time the grant is due before it could be had at a place less than fifty miles from the Capital. be that as it may it certainly is a great pity that teachers' conventions seem to be among the impossible things of the country. Experience carries us back to the bye gone days in Ontario when teachers' conventions did more perhaps than any other one thing to begot enthusiasm among teachers, and encourage them to put forth every possible effort to make the schools of their province second to none.

Yours, etc., NUF SED.

FOUR NEW STATES.

South Dakota, North Dakota, Montana and Washington.

On February 22, 1889, the President signed the bill creating South Dakota, North Dakota, Montana, and Washington states of the Union.

South Dakota.—The great Prairie State, to which the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway has three main lines reaching Ellendale, Aberdeen, Huron, Watertown, and Sioux Falls. Go to South Dakota via the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway and pass through St. Paul and Minneapolis en route.

North Dakota.—Where is grown No. 1 Hard Scotch Fife wheat; whose healthful climate nurtures the most vigorous and brainy civilization on earth; where single counties raise more wheat, oats and barley, than entire states; the soil of whose fertile prairies is richer than the valley of the Nile; where the Turtle Mountain, Mount Devils Lake and districts invite the home seeker to secure a fine home. Magnificent daily train service to Fargo, Grand Forks, Grafton, Devils Lake, Bottineau, and all other important points.

Montana.—The golden—Treasures in her mines of precious metals; wealth in her forests of hard pine; profit in her fertile fields, producing a larger yield of crops than any other state or territory; the richest country for settlement on earth where property is universal; which has the best paid labor in the world; a rainy winter climate, caused by warm winds from the Pacific. The St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway is the only railroad passing through a continuous agricultural country from St. Paul and Minneapolis to the Rocky Mountains. It runs through the Great Reservation of 16,000,000 acres of land, free to settlers, in the Milk River Valley. Wood, water, and coal in abundance; no irrigation required; the only line passing through Great Falls with its 1,000,000 horse-power cataraacts; immense coal seams, and surrounding farming country of free land; through Helena, the capital city and commercial center of Montana, and Butte, the richest mining camp on earth, to San Francisco by the Northern Pacific, Union Pacific, and Santa Fe routes. Remember this is the California route, with sleeping cars, only one rapid during each sleeping car, and free colonist sleepers of its own from St. Paul and Minneapolis to Great Falls, Helena and Butte. It is also the shortest line to Butte.

Washington.—The country of tall timber indicated by Puget Sound, the Mediterranean of the Pacific. Do not forget that the St. Paul, Minneapolis & Manitoba Railway is the only line which offers a choice of three routes to the Pacific coast. The Manitoba-Pacific route is the only line by which passengers en route for Tacoma, Portland, and San Francisco can pass through Port Townsend and Seattle. Free colonist sleepers run through without change of train. Outbound to the Pacific coast to leave as early or late but prices of tickets are low and free dollars here. Take the Seattle route.

For further information, maps, rates and publications, in regard to the routes of the four new states, write or apply to F. L. WATNEY, Gen'l Pass. and Ticket Agent, St. P. & M. Ry., St. Paul, Minn.

No. 467.—What is it?

I am the center of gravity, hold a capital position in Vienna, and as I am foremost in every victory, am allowed by all to be invulnerable. Always out of tune, yet ever in voice. Invisible, though clearly seen in the midst of a river. I have three associates in vice, and could name three who are in love with me. Still, it is in vain you seek me, for I have long been in heaven and even now lie benighted in the grave.

No. 468.—A Clever Puzzle.

A hundred and one by fifty divide,
And next let a cipher be duly applied,
And if the result you should rightly divine,
You'll find that the whole makes but one out of nine.

No. 469.—The Ingenious Servant.

A gentleman having bought a servant-eight bottles of wine and suspecting his servant of tampering with the contents of the wine cellar, caused these bottles to be arranged in a bin in such a way as to count nine bottles on each side of the bin. Notwithstanding the precaution, the servant in two successive visits stole eight bottles, four each time, rearranging the bottles each time so that they still counted nine on each side. How did he do it?

No. 470.—Tongues.

I am neither fish, flesh, nor fowl, yet I frequently stand upon one leg; and if you behold me, I stand upon two; what is more strange, if you again deplete me I stand upon four, and I shall think you are related to me if you do not now recognize me.

No. 471.—Charades.

(a) My first for you will never know
My first, nor yet my second.
The like your wit and beauty, so
My whole 'twill aye be reckoned.
(b) My first is a circle, my second a cross,
If you meet with my whole, look out for a loss.
(c) My first we all possess;
My second we all should grieve;
My whole you'll surely grieve:
'Tis one of Flora's trees.

No. 472.—Single Acrostics.

Cross words: 1. Epochs 2. Aedlar. 3. Jewels. 4. Farming utensils. 5. A song of triumph. 6. The chief officer of a municipal corporation.
When these words have been rightly guessed, and placed one below the other, one row of letters will be the same, and the row next to it will form the name of an extensive country.

No. 473.—Riddles.

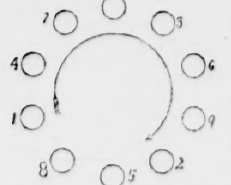

1. Behold a metal, and leave not out.
2. Behold a breakfast dish, and leave a treat.
3. Behold a holy day, and leave a flower.
4. Behold a quadruped, and leave a part of the body.
5. Behold a species of antelope, and leave to dismember.
6. Behold to stagger, and leave a fish.
7. Behold to slay, and leave a unfortunate.
8. Behold an odor, and leave a coin.
9. Behold a stag, and leave do verity.
10. Behold a model of perfection, and leave to distribute.

Comparisons in Rhyme.

As poor as a church mouse,
As thin as a rail,
As fat as a porpoise,
As rough as a gale,
As brave as a lion,
As sly as a cat,
As bright as a sunbeam,
As weak as a rat,
As round as an apple,
As black as your hat,
As brown as a berry,
As blind as a bat,
As mean as a miser,
As full as a tick,
As plump as a partridge,
As sharp as a sick.

Key to the Puzzles.

No. 467.—Mathematically Described: AC-TIVITY.
No. 468.—Anagram: A Mystic Bird: Snake.
No. 469.—Letter Enigma: Legersheim.
No. 470.—Droplet Letter Puzzle: A bird in the hand is worth two in the bush.
No. 471.—Charade: Benjamin Harrison.
No. 472.—Crossword:

Having crossed outside circle, make the next three, and begin counting again from the fourth, and so on round and round. Missed circles are to include those already crossed out. Thus, if the circle marked 1 is started from, scratch out the unnumbered circle. Miss three circles, and begin counting again from 2. This count will bring the player to the circle numbered 1, which is to be crossed out. Missing three again, including the circle already crossed out, begin counting from 4, and cross out 2, and so on, until all the circles except the one numbered 9 have been crossed out.

The general rule for any number of circles, counting any number each time, is always to miss the number that will bring the next count to the circle previously started from. Thus, if there are eleven circles, and the count is five, miss two each time; if there are eleven circles, and the count is four, miss four.

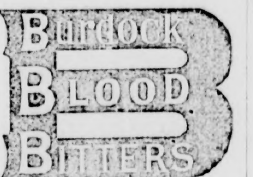

This will solve all the possible cases, but some numbers do not admit of a solution, such as ten circles counting five. The reason for this is that the number of circles, and the number of the count minus one, have a common factor.
No. 468.—Transformations: Hard, card, cart, east, east, Sin, son, wou, woo, Neat, seat, slat, slum, slum, gum, grum, grim, pen, Sere, sate, sate, hole, pole, pore, plant, hard, hard, hard, fort, fort, foot, Eke, glue, gum, slum, slum, slat, seat, seat, pint, pink.
No. 469.—Riddles: Because it makes me, small. Hold your line. Which she does for slight of hand—by retreating you. Because he's no better.

Quick Breakfast Cakes.
If the directions for hot pans and ovens are followed a number of cakes, which the following never fail, are very light and delicious with good coffee: One pint of flour, one pint of water, and two eggs. Take half the water and stir in part of the flour to prevent lumps, then as it thickens add the rest of the water and flour. Beat the eggs thoroughly and add last with a small pinch of salt. The pans must be very hot and the oven quick.

Dining Room Dots.
Glass spoons for pickles are something new. Salted almonds are served on oyster shells of antique silver, gold lined. The spoon to serve them with has a bowl in the shape of a mussel.
Flat bonbonnières for table use are almost as large as a plate, the cover decorated with painted Kate Greenway figures, and tied with bright colored ribbons.

A BIG SUCCESS.

Premier Mercer has decided that the Magistrate's Court will continue to try cases in which not more than $50 is involved.

HARD ON THE DRUNKARD

The way of the drunkard is hard. Dr. Carothers says he is the helpless victim of transmitted hereditary. Dr. Keely says he is a sufferer from disease and it is to be treated accordingly. The Probationary says he is an anarchist and needs only the restraining hand of law. Dr. Crosby says he is a free moral agent and must be held and dealt with, the high-brow man says he is the victim of over indulgence and cheap liquor, and if his whisky cost him he would drink less of it, and now the Minnesota Legislature classes him with the burglar and the robber, and makes drunkards a penal offence. The wine cup is only a single like an adder, but it bites like a multiplication table in its diffusive treatment. After a while it will get to be so that a man will have to consult a lawyer before he takes a drink, and then he won't save money enough to get drunk on. All things, therefore, tend to ultimate probibition. Dominion Illustrated.

QU'APPELLE.

—Barley harvest has begun.

—Qu'Appelle Masonic Lodge will meet on Tuesday evening next.

—Mr. D. H. Macdowal, M.P., Prince Albert, went east this week.

—Mrs. L. C. McIntyre and daughter, of Winnipeg, are in town on a visit to Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Beauchamp.

—Rev. Father Fox, of St. Mary's church, Winnipeg, is here and will hold service today in the Roman Catholic church.

—Rev. Father Montreuil is ill and has gone to the St. Boniface hospital where he has been recommended to stay for a short time to recuperate his strength.

—We paid a flying visit to the Government Experimental Farm on Monday. The grain crops are really excellent. We purpose giving it a more extended visit and fuller particulars later.

—Mr. L. P. O. Noel, sub-agent for the Government Telegraph Service at Batoche, arrived here last Monday night from Father Point, Quebec, where he had been visiting his parents. He left on Wednesday's mail for Batoche to resume his duties.

—The Philharmonic Society will hold their next social on Thursday, the 8th inst., at 20 o'clock. A good program of music, songs, etc., will be provided. As the expenses are necessarily very heavy, the promoters hope to be well patronized to enable them to clear.

—Rev. Dr. Robertson, Superintendent of Presbyterian missions, is to be in Qu'Appelle on Friday, the 9th inst. He will hold a meeting of the Presbyterian congregation at 20 o'clock, to arrange for a successor to Mr. Fraser, who returns to Prince-ton College, N. S., in September.

—We were promised a copy of the addresses presented to Messrs. Thomson and Nelson, but only received one of them, and we did not care to publish one without the other. That is the reason we did not publish in full them or the one presented to Mr. Murphy.

—A grand ball will be given in aid of the Qu'Appelle Brass Band, in the immigration building on Tuesday evening next, the 6th inst. Dancing is to begin at 20 o'clock, and refreshments will be served from 23 to 24. A most energetic ladies committee is in charge of the arrangements and there is not the slightest doubt of its success. As the object of the ball is a worthy one it should be well patronized. Tickets $1.50.

—A most disgraceful scene was enacted on our streets on Saturday night last. Certain bilious individuals filled themselves with something apparently stronger than four per cent, and then arm in arm staggered through the streets, looting and singing at the tops of their voices until within a few minutes of midnight. If they were not intoxicated they tried to make people think they were. We understand that it is the intention of the police not to allow a repetition of such a scene.

—Sheriff Murphy was in town on Monday and Tuesday last shipping his household goods preparatory to taking up his permanent residence in Moosemound. On Tuesday evening a very large number of our citizens met in McLean's hall and presented Mr. and Mrs. Murphy with a very complimentary address. Mr. G. S. Davidson, M. T. L., occupied the chair and Mr. G. H. V. Bullock read the address. Mr. Murphy replied expressing his regret that the Government office to which he had recently been appointed necessitated his removal from Qu'Appelle. He had, however, been well received at Moosemound. At the close of the meeting Mr. and Mrs. Murphy bid their numerous friends good bye. They left for their new home by that night's train.

—Mrs. Jas. McEwen and family have returned from their eastern visit.

—Dr. G. P. Bell and family, who left here for England something over a year ago, returned here on Friday last to take up their permanent residence in the Northwest.

—Mr. W. H. Bell, our enterprising butcher, has joined the noble order of benedictines. He was married at Brandon yesterday and arrived here this morning with his bride. Mr. Bell is today receiving the congratulations of his many friends.

—Mr. C. S. Travis, who has been employed in the C. P. R. station here as assistant agent, left this morning for Wolsley, where he is now agent. Mr. Fisher, night operator, takes his place and is succeeded by Mr. Abbott.

—Mr. A. M. McLane, received a telegram from Fergus Falls, Minn., on Sunday last stating that his brother was dangerously ill. Mr. and Miss McLane started for that place the same night but their brother died before they reached their destination.

—M. H. Nathorst, manager for Mr. S. H. Caswell's creamery, has been in the habit of practicing revolver shooting on the cows before working hours. On Monday morning last he was thus engaged when the revolver was discharged accidentally, and the ball went through the fore finger of his left hand, breaking a bone. Medical aid was called and the bone set. The wound is healing nicely.

—Ottawa Free Press: Some friends of Mr. W. B. Bradley were agreeably surprised recently to hear from him. It is over 35 years since Mr. Bradley, then quite a young man left Ottawa, during which time his friends here have not heard anything of him. The letter is dated Sydney, N. S. Wales, and conveys the pleasing intelligence that Mr. Bradley has prospered well in the Antipodes, being the owner of a coal mine and other investments, which net him over $50,000 a year. His friends are at a loss to account for his long silence, but are not the less glad to hear from him. Mr. Bradley was a son of the late Cap. Clements Bradley, and brother of Mr. R. A. Bradley, of Bradley & Snow, of this city. The letter states that the long-lost is still a bachelor, and would like to see some of his old friends again. We are requested to add to the above that our Mr. B. B. Bradley expects his brother to visit him here and view this country.

—At the Leland; J. K. Barrat; T. H. Mathewson, L. C. McIntyre, Mrs. L. C. McIntyre, and daughter, H. G. Lewis, J. Lamb, W. J. Hadde, W. R. Ross, H. L. Pearson, S. M. Barre, Winnipeg; D. L. —Bishop Grandin, who has been on a tour through the Eastern provinces and the United States, passed through here this week on his way home to his bishopric in the Saskatchewan district.

—S. Chad's Church, at Deep Lake, has been supplied with suitable benches through the exertions of two or three of the congregation. The benches were put into position before the Service last Sunday and are of good though simple design. The work was executed by Messrs. Burghall and sons, contractors of this town. The church has also been much improved by the introduction of a Lectern and Sanctuary Chair which formerly stood in the vestry of St. Peter's Church.

Cricket.

GRENFELL vs. QU'APPELLE.

A two days' match was played here on the 18th and 19th ult., between the Grenfell and Qu'Appelle Cricket Clubs, and after a close and exciting game, was won by Grenfell by 19 runs. The cricket was good throughout. For Grenfell the bowling of A. and B. Lake was very effective, while the captain, R. Lake, Dr. Elliot, R. H. Chapman, Fitzgerald and Crush made good scores. For Qu'Appelle H. Peck (captain) and Williams bowled well, while McLaren, Spurling and Peck showed good defense and hitting power. Very hearty thanks are due to the Qu'Appelle ladies, who by their generous aid enabled the home club to entertain their Grenfell guests in a manner worthy of the occasion. The lunch and ball at the immigration building on Thursday (both most gratifying in their success) were the results of the liberal efforts of our ladies, to whom on behalf of the Qu'Appelle Cricket Club we hereby tender their grateful thanks. QU'APPELLE vs. QU'APPELLE VALLEY.

A match between these two cricket clubs was played out on Saturday last, 27th ult., at the race course cricket ground, Qu'Appelle, and resulted in a great victory for the home team by 73 runs. As this well earned success has been gained by the Qu'Appelle boys against the redoubtable Fort Qu'Appelle Club, through steady pluck and perseverance in spite of so many harassing defeats, they may well be congratulated on the result of last Saturday's play. The Fort team was undoubtedly a strong one, and played thoroughly good cricket, and it must be said bore their defeat with great composure and good will toward the victors. For the Qu'Appelle eleven it may be confidently said that they never played better or with greater determination. The bowling of G. W. Roberts seemed at one time unplayable, and created confusion and dismay in the ranks of the visitors, while Peck (captain), Spurling, Williams and Adams, each made scores of 20 runs and upwards. McLaren's long stopping was also a factor. For the Fort Qu'Appelle team Spurling and Atherton bowled well.

and H. B. Joyner and Elkington made the highest score for their side, with 16 and 17 respectively.

Appended is the score:

NOTICE.

Weights and Measures.

TRADESMEN, Manufacturers, and owners of Weights, Measures, and Weighing Machines generally, are especially requested to read carefully the following instructions and act accordingly:—
1. The Weights and Measures Act provides for a regular and accurate comparison of all Weights and Measures used for trade purposes, as well as for irregular inspection of the same, which may be made at any time when deemed necessary by the inspector, and it also imposes a heavy penalty on any trader or other person who willfully obstructs or impedes an Inspector or Assistant Inspector in the performance of his duty under said Act, or who refuses to produce the whole of his Weights and Measures for inspection when called upon to do so by an Inspecting Officer.
2. Every trader, manufacturer and owner of Weights, Measures, and Weighing Machines, when paying money to Inspectors or Assistant Inspectors of Weights and Measures for verification fees, is entitled to, and is especially requested to demand from the officer who makes the inspection, an official certificate (Form O. 6) with the words "Original for the Trader," printed at the head thereof properly filled out and stamped, and also at the same time to carefully ascertain whether or not the stamps attached to such certificate represent exactly in value, the amount of cash paid. Traders are requested to keep in mind that certificates of verification are of no value whatever, unless stamps covering the full amount of fees charged are attached.
3. Changes or holders of these official certificates are especially requested to keep them carefully for two years, and in order to secure their safe keeping it would be advisable to enclose them in their own boxes or envelopes in the name of the ordinary business certificates are done; for it must be distinctly understood that all traders who are unable to produce their properly stamped certificates, when asked to do so by an Inspector or Assistant Inspector, may, in all probability, have to pay over again their verification fees.
